

Neighborhood Garden on Tour

[DATE HERE]

Dear Neighbor,

We are your neighbors from (place your address here).

[Two years ago] we landscaped our garden with California native wildflowers, perennials, and shrubs. This year, our garden has been selected as one of the featured gardens on the Bringing Back the Natives Garden Tour.

As part of this tour, on [date], from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. our garden will be open to visitors. Of course, as neighbors you are welcome to visit us at any time, but you are particularly welcome during the tour, when the garden should be looking its best. We'd love to see you and talk to you about what we have done, including:

- Not using herbicides, pesticides, or chemical fertilizers
- Landscaping with water-wise California native plants
- Creating a rain garden, which provides a deep watering to our plants after a storm has ended, and keeps the garden green longer
- Creating habitat for wildlife
- Composting garden and kitchen scraps to make organic fertilizer

Our goal is to create an attractive, low-maintenance garden that provides habitat for birds, bees, and butterflies, while reducing our water bill.

Please stop by and see us on the day of the tour. Just tell the greeter that you are our neighbor. To learn more about this tour, or to register for this event, you can visit the website at <http://bringingbackthenatives.net/>

We're looking forward to seeing you!
